Fourth of July Pet Safety Tips

The Fourth of July is a great time to celebrate with friends, food and fun in the sun. But not so much fun for your pet. It's important to remember that certain events and activities can be hazardous for animals.

Here are a few tips to keep your pet happy and healthy this Fourth of July!

- Loud, crowded fireworks displays are no fun for pets, who can become frightened or disoriented by the loud noise. Please resist the urge to take them to your Fourth of July festivities. Instead, keep them safe from the noise in a quiet, sheltered and escape-proof area at home.
- Never use fireworks around pets! While exposure to lit fireworks can potentially result in severe burns and/or trauma to the face and paws of curious pets. Even unused fireworks can pose a danger. Many types contain potentially toxic substances, including potassium nitrate, arsenic and other heavy metals.
- Never leave alcoholic drinks unattended where pets can reach them. Alcoholic beverages have the potential to poison pets. If ingested, the animal could become very intoxicated and weak, severely depressed or could go into a coma. Death from respiratory failure is also a possibility in severe cases.
- Do not put glow jewelry on your pets, or allow them to play with it. While the luminescent substance contained in these products is not highly toxic, excessive drooling and gastrointestinal irritation could still result from ingestions, and intestinal blockage could occur from swallowing large pieces of the plastic containers.
- Keep citronella candles, insect coils and tiki torch oil products out of reach of pets. Accidental ingestion can produce stomach irritation and possibly even central nervous system depression. If inhaled, the oils could cause aspiration pneumonia in pets.
- Be prepared in the event that your pet does escape. Keep your pets IDs up to date! It's a good idea for all your pets even indoor-only pets to always wear a collar with an ID tag that includes your name, phone number and any relevant contact information. July 1 is National ID Your Pet Day, which serves as an annual check-in to make sure your pets' identification tags and microchip information is up to date.

Keeping Pets Safe in the Garden

(Family Features)

If you have pets that enjoy spending time outdoors, it's important to make sure your yard is a safe place for them to be.

Consider these hazards that can negatively impact the well-being of your furry friends.

Poisonous Plants - Some common plants can be dangerous for animals, causing anything from mild oral irritations and upset stomachs to cardiovascular damage and even death. For example, these are some of the toxic plants the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) has identified as harmful for either cats or dogs:

- * Aloe - can cause vomiting, diarrhea, tremors, anorexia and depression
- * Azalea - can cause vomiting, diarrhea, hypersalivation, weakness, coma, cardiovascular collapse and death
- * Burning bush - can cause vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and weakness, as well as heart rhythm abnormalities with large doses
- * Caladium - can cause burning and irritation of the mouth, tongue and lips, excessive drooling, vomiting and difficulty swallowing
- * Daylilies - can cause kidney failure in cats
- * Hibiscus - can cause vomiting, diarrhea, nausea and anorexia

Mulch and Compost - The decomposing elements that make compost good can be bad for pets, according to the National Garden Society. Keep compost in a secure container or fenced off area so pets can't get to it. Cocoa mulch can be a particular problem for dogs. A byproduct of chocolate production, cocoa mulch can cause digestive problems and even seizures in dogs. Shredded pine or cedar mulch is a safer choice.

Fertilizer and Insecticides - The chemicals used to get rid of pests or make your lawn lush can be toxic to pets. Some of the most dangerous pesticides include snail bait with metaldehyde, fly bait with methomyl, systemic insecticides with disyston or disulfoton, mole or gopher bait with zinc phosphide and most forms of rat poison, according to the ASPCA. Follow all instructions carefully, and store pesticides and fertilizers in a secure area out of the reach of animals.

Fleas and Ticks - In addition to using appropriate flea and tick prevention methods such as collars and sprays, make sure your yard isn't a welcoming environment for these pests. Keep the lawn trimmed and remove brush and detritus, where fleas and ticks often lurk. Fleas can cause hair loss, scabs, excessive scratching, tapeworms and anemia. Ticks can do all of that, plus bring you and your family in contact with diseases like Rocky Mountain spotted fever and Lyme disease.

Happy Independence Day

Music in the Valley - Saturday July 17, 2021

On Saturday July 17th from 10:00am to 5:00pm you can enjoy the sounds of traditional music ringing out through Quiet Valley Living Historical Farm. The fifteenth annual "Music in the Valley" will feature musical performances by various groups all around the historic farm. Many of the tunes and songs will be reminiscent of the music settlers played in the 19th century.

A variety of performers will be playing at the different venues throughout the day. As a grand finale, the day will end with a jam session at 3:30. Puppeteer, Bonnie Scott, will hold shows throughout the day and both young and old will have fun with the puppets' antics. There will be an opportunity for children to play old fashioned games and make some crafts. The One Room School will be open and the outdoor Bake Oven will be in operation.

This is a wonderful opportunity to learn the background of songs you still know and love and how the music of our country developed through the last two centuries.

The event will be held rain or shine, under tents as needed. Schedule is subject to change. Music in the Valley is included in the price of admission for the historic farm tour. The farm tours will run on Saturday from 10:00 to 5:00. Allow two and a half hours to see all of the tour. Great fun for all ages, so come for a few hours or bring a picnic lunch make a day of it.

All funds raised go to support the non-profit farm museum and its mission.

For further information visit our website at www.quietvalley.org or call the farm at 570.992.6161.

Seventeen Seventy Six

By Robert Martin

Centuries ago ere seventeen seventy six,
Of armies, weapons, mortar, and bricks,
Fortified strongholds we gave if all we got.
The Brits drew back, so hard we fought.

Heroes fought 'til the sun dropped out of sight,
Sometimes thru' the clear and glittered night,
With cannons booming and rocket's red glare,
Our flag stood out into the midnight air.

Go home ye Brits, and never come back.
Leave us alone with our pride still intact.
We want no more your monarchs or your rules,
Independence, independence you foolish fools.

Philadelphia Town on this day July fourth,
Our Declaration of Independence was slated for
A long lasting peace throughout all the years,
With a glowing friendship and warming cheers.
Hail to the men of Great Britain so to say.

Grilling Safety Tips

- Always keep outdoor grills away from the walls of buildings and from under low hanging tree branches when in use
- Never use an outdoor grill inside a garage, or in a building.
- Always remember to open the lid to your gas grill to prevent a buildup of gas that can cause an explosion when igniting the grill.
- Never leave an outdoor grill unattended; children and pets should always be kept away from the grilling area.
- Make sure the chef stays safe by using long-handled utensils made for cooking on the grill.
- Never add charcoal starter fluid when coals have already been ignited.
- Always follow the manufacturer's instructions when using the grill
- Keep a fire extinguisher or water source handy.
