Slate Belt Heritage Center and Museum to hold Bangor's 150th Time Capsule Burial

The Slate Belt Heritage Center and Museum will hold the Bangor's 150th Time Capsule Burial ceremony at Bethel Park in Bangor on Saturday, April 25th at 10:00AM (rain date April 26th at 1:00PM). Individuals may purchase envelopes for $5 for letters to family members, organizations, owners of their home in 50 years, etc. that will be placed in the time capsule. The Center is also looking for items that represent Bangor now for the time capsule. We would like businesses, churches, schools, daycares, local government, and organizations to donate items such as but not limited to business cards, brochures, photos, church bulletins, and written history. We are hoping when the capsule is opened in 2075 there will be a clear picture of what Bangor was like in 2025. NO liquids of any kind or food items will be accepted.

We would like all envelopes and donated items at the Center by March 1st. Packing the time capsule will be a deliberate process so all items will survive underground for 50 years. Photos will be taken of items that will be placed in the time capsule and shared on our Facebook page. The time capsule, which is actually a burial vault, will be sealed shut mid-April. Follow our Facebook page, Slate Belt Heritage Center - SBHC, for the latest information. Any questions, email Jane at janehr58@gmail.com.

The Slate Belt Heritage Center is located on 30 N. 1st Street in Bangor and is open on Sundays from 12:00 PM - 3:00 PM. We look forward to seeing everyone be a part of this historical moment!

Wind Gap Man in Need of a Kidney Donor

by Candy Martin

Last weekend Valentine's Day was celebrated. February 14 is also National Donor Day. A day that also needs to be recognized.

According to donatelifepa.org nationwide there are 100,000 plus on the National transplant list and 4,000 people are added monthly.

Michael Forte of Wind Gap is among those waiting for a donor. Michael, is 52 years old, a son, a husband, a father and grandfather and he is in dire need of a kidney transplant. Diagnosed with Diabetes in his early twenties, his kidney disease has progressed to the point of now being on Peritoneal dialysis (PD) for the past year and a half.

Last month Michael and his wife, Joann, and his mother, Denise, departed on an 11 day cruise aboard the Royal Caribbean Odyssey of the Sea. What was supposed to be the vacation they've dreamed of quickly turned into a devastating situation that nearly ended Michael's life.

The trio boarded the cruise ship in Bayonne, New Jersey ready to set sail to the Caribbean. Michael, wore a Scopalamine transdermal patch to avoid motion sickness. The first three days of the cruise were filled with amazing shows, delicious food, and everything the cruise had to offer. Day 4 the ship docked at the first port in Saint Martin, they made their way off the ship to explore the island and purchase souvenirs for their grandchildren. Michael began feeling dizzy, so they went back to the ship and decided to stay on board for the day and enjoy the amenities. The next day Michael awoke and felt great. The plan was to try to get off the ship again, now docked in St John U.S. Virgin Islands. Barely off the ship and Mike was dizzy and disoriented. Joann, began to realize that something was wrong and took Michael to be seen by the medical staff on the ship. The doctor told him to remove the Scopalamine patch and give it 24-48 hours as he may be having an adverse reaction. Michael was given a wheel chair to use if needed. He began feeling a bit better and the next day they again tried to venture off the ship. Once again Michael began feeling ill, dizzy, disorientated and now his body was jerking, they made their way back to the ship. Michael said he was tired and wanted to nap, he didn't want to go to dinner, or to see the doctor. He was talking, his speech was good but he said he was tired. He awoke the next day feeling great. No signs of what occurred the day before. Joann kept a close watch on him and they decided to just relax by the pool for the day. All seemed well.

Day 5 Michael awoke ready to go and explore and get the souvenirs for the grandkids. Joann said they would once again attempt to go if Mike could walk 1 full lap of the track with her. He agreed and as they started their walk he stopped and said he couldn't do it. Shortly thereafter, Mike ended up in the ships hospital where he spent the next 6 days with Joann by his side day and night, no sleep just watching over Mike. Fast forward to day 11 Michael still hospitalized on the ship, which is now en route back to Bayonne, New Jersey. Joann leaves Mike briefly to go back to their cabin to shower. In a matter of minutes he takes a turn for the worst and needs to be intubated. The US Coast Guard is called and Michael will be airlifted to Sentara Norfolk General Hospital in Norfolk, Virginia. Joann said "It all happened so fast, literally within minutes. I'm still processing everything that happened and Michael recalls very little. He remembers boarding the ship and that's about it." Joann, now on the top deck, very distraught, watching Mike being airlifted by the US Coast Guard, as she is unable to go with him due to weight restrictions on the helicopter. She is approached by a woman who consoles her. The woman was Rickie Ackerman, of Mount Bethel, Pa. She and her husband Gary were on the cruise. She has never met Joann or Michael. Rickie stayed with Joann and has been in close contact with her daily since this tragic ordeal happened. Side note: The Ackerman's are the owners of Hillside Smokehouse, located in Mount Bethel, Pa. On their return home the couple shared Mike's plight and donated monetary tips from their business to the couple and shared Mike's GoFundMe on their Facebook page.

Joann remained on the ship until it docked back in New Jersey. She then drove home with Mike's mom, Denise, to Wind Gap. She slept a few hours and then made the 8 hour drive by herself to Michael in Norfolk, Virginia where she stayed by his side until he was released on January 29th.

Mike had a setback upon his return home and spent 2 days in the hospital needing a blood transfusion.

Because of the kindness of the Ackerman's sharing Michael's story, someone saw their Facebook post and contacted Mike. They are now waiting on test results to determine if the potential donor is a match.

Michael and Joann, would like to express their sincere gratitude to everyone who continues to pray for Mike, who donated to the GoFundMe, and to those that have reached out to them. They would like to give special thanks to Rickie and Gary Ackerman for their kindness during this time. It will never be forgotten.

If you would like to donate to the GoFundMe please go to <https://gofund.me/c842938fe>
