Thank You

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
 Or sat quietly in a chair.
 Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
 If so we saw it there.
 Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
 As any friend could say.
 Perhaps you were not there at all,
 Just thought of us that day.
 Whatever you did to console our hearts,
 We thank you so much whatever the part.

Sarah Janelle Loren

Wisecracks from Winston by Sarah Janelle Loren Fall Fun for the Whole Family

It's officially autumn! If you haven't already, grab a pumpkin spice latte, place those mums on your porch, and start decorating for Halloween. The winter holidays will be here before we know it, so get a move on!

There's just something about fall, isn't there? It's like coming home after a long vacation. While vacations are luxurious and often times very much needed, there truly is no place like home. And there is nothing quite as wonderful as the feeling you get in autumn.

I love when I can finally turn off the AC and open the windows, allowing the cool autumn breeze to blow through my home. Curling up on the couch with a fleece and a hot cup of coffee in the morning, or herbal tea and a good book in the evening... It's a rare occasion when I'm actually able to finish my hot beverage before it turns cold though, courtesy of my three lovely children. And don't even ask how many times I must read the same paragraph over again! That's why I have a list of kid-friendly fall activities that we enjoy each year.

Fall festivals, parades and trunk-or-treat events are always so much fun, not just for kiddos, but for the entire family. Whether you make your kids' costumes or buy them from a store, it's so disappointing when you have to pack them away after being worn only one time. Instead, get as much use out of those costumes as you can. Do a quick search to find local trunk-or-treat events, parades, and fall festivals. Not only will your children get to wear their costumes more than once, but you'll enjoy a family outing that will probably cost you nothing at all. Last year, we attended a local trunk-or-treat event that also included free pumpkins, complete with a decoration station, and a hayride to a bonfire where we made s'mores. What a wonderful time we all had!

Of course we can't forget about carving pumpkins! Go to a pumpkin patch and pick out the best pumpkins you can find, then sit them on your porch, uncarved. Yes, uncarved. Okay, go ahead and carve one (don't forget to save the seeds to roast in the oven), but you'll really want to carve the Styrofoam pumpkins instead. Not only will you have less mess, but these pumpkins will last years, not just weeks. Carve a couple each fall and before you know it, your porch will have the most jack-o-lanterns in town. Plus, you can probably score some great deals at the end of the season and stock up for next year.

Soup, soup, and more soup! I cannot tell you how many different soups I make throughout the season. White bean and sausage, pasta fagioli, Italian wedding, butternut squash, chicken corn chowder; the list goes on and on. Who doesn't love a bowl of piping hot soup on a crisp autumn evening?

Finally, don't forget to hit a corn or sunflower maze this season and throw a costume party for children and adults alike. Dress up, bob for apples, sneak some of your kids' candy, and have fun!

You're Invited to Customer Appreciation Day at Little Creek Bar-B-Cue

By Sarah Janelle Loren

Little Creek Bar-B-Cue is celebrating ten years in business and you're invited! Stop by the restaurant at 1004 Washington Blvd. in Bangor during Customer Appreciation Day on Saturday, October 20th from 11am to 7pm. Little Creek will offer food specials, a chance to win a $100 gift certificate, and more throughout the day.

"We just want to thank our customers for their support over the last ten years," said Kim Green, co-owner of Little Creek Bar-B-Cue.

To show their thanks, owners Rich and Kim Green will be offering buy-one-get-one-free specials for pulled pork and smoked pulled chicken sandwiches, along with the chance for customers to win a $100 gift certificate to the barbecue restaurant. The winner will be announced on Sunday, October 21st.

"All proceeds from the raffle will be donated to Operation BBQ Relief," Kim said.

Operation BBQ Relief is a non-profit organization that provides meals to displaced residents and emergency personnel during times of natural and other disasters. They have currently deployed to the panhandle of Florida to feed those effected by Hurricane Michael.

In addition to the fundraiser, another raffle has made a comeback: the business card raffle. As of October 16th, customers are invited to drop their business cards into the raffle jug for a chance to win a pulled pork or smoked pulled chicken meal. One winner will be announced every Thursday for an entire year, now through October 18, 2019, via Little Creek's website, Facebook and Instagram pages.

"Not only are we giving our customers the chance to win a meal, but also the opportunity to promote their businesses," Kim said.

This is just another way Kim and Rich are showing gratitude for their loyal customers, many of whom have been supporting Little Creek since they opened their doors on October 18th, 2008. Back then, the restaurant was manned only by Kim and Rich, and often times Kim alone.

"We have shown steady growth, which has enabled us to employ up to six people during our busy season in the summer and two full-time employees during the winter months. If it weren't for all of our loyal customers, we wouldn't have come this far," Kim said. "A special thanks to Woody Boyer for helping us to establish ourselves in the Slate Belt."

Sherwood "Woody" Boyer is the late owner of Woody's Wieners, which was located in the building that now houses Little Creek Bar-B-Cue.

A decade later, Little Creek has been voted Best Kept Secret in the Lehigh Valley for 2017, and nominated for Best Barbecue and Best Ribs in the Pocono Area for 2018, the results of which will be announced on Halloween.

"We're looking forward to serving you for at least another 10 years," Kim said.

Quiet Valley Living Historical Farm Announces Spooky Days on the Farm

At Spooky Days on the Farm, on Friday October 27th from 5:00 pm to 8:00 pm, Saturday, October 28th from 1:00 pm to 8:00 pm and Sunday, October 29th from 1:00 to 5:00, take a tour of our historic farm and enjoy a look at the stranger side of Quiet Valley.

During the daytime it will be more family focused with some not so spooky ghost stories, Halloween songs and dances, and take a horse-drawn wagon ride (weather permitting). There will be kid appropriate "Dare to Touch" boxes, children's craft area and some light refreshments available.

After dark things will get spookier as guests can visit the Witch in the Woods, if they dare! Help solve a "murder" that took place on the farm in the 1800s. This is a true who-dunnit, play detective type of activity! Brave souls can also put their hand in the adult version of the creepy "Dare to Touch" boxes.

Spooky Days on the Farm will take place rain or shine; Schedule subject to change. All money raised is used to support the mission of our non-profit historic farm museum and its educational programs.

Keep Pets Safe this Halloween

(Family Features) Halloween isn't just for humans; four-legged friends have plenty of opportunity to get in on the fun, too. However, it's important to take some pet precautions that allow the whole family to enjoy the holiday safely, as the costumes and excitement can be overwhelming and some of the candy is even dangerous.

As you're filling the candy buckets and assembling

the perfect costumes, be sure to heed these tips from the experts at PetSmart for a Halloween filled with pet-friendly fun:

OUT AND ABOUT

Make sure pets have proper identification by microchipping and registering your pet's microchip, and keeping identification and registration tags on their collars. This is especially important around Halloween, when open doors offer more opportunity for escape.

If your pet will be joining the family while trick-or-treating, be sure they are visible to motorists by using a reflective collar, harness or leash.

COSTUME CONCERNS

Just like with children, there are safety issues to consider when costuming your pets. Not all dogs like wearing clothes and some may become stressed or agitated while wearing a costume or sweater. However, many dogs just need a little coaxing and positive reinforcement.

- Start with a simple accessory, like a bandana, working your way up to a costume.
- Make sure costumes include eye and ear holes, and if they don't, consider removing whole portions of the costume to ensure your pet's ability to see, hear and breathe. Make sure there isn't anything that could be a tripping hazard. Also, be sure to check the costume for little parts within biting or chewing distance.
- Dogs can overheat easily, so ensure your dog's clothing is not too bulky or heavy if the weather is warm.
- In the end, the top priority should be your pet's comfort level.

HAZARDOUS FOOD AND DECORATIONS

"It's fun to include our pets in our celebrations, but it's also important to be aware of the dangers associated with Halloween to ensure their safety," said Jennifer Freeman, DVM, PetSmart's resident veterinarian and pet care expert. "Keep chocolate and candy out of paws' reach. Xylitol, a sugar substitute found in candy, gum, mints and baked goods, is toxic to pets and can cause liver damage."

Keep the Halloween fun going by establishing some rules for your family and any guests joining the festivities:

- Xylitol can be extremely dangerous to pets, even in small amounts. Just 1/8 teaspoon can cause dangerously low blood sugar in dogs and 1/2 teaspoon can cause liver damage. If xylitol is consumed by your pet, take him or her to a veterinarian immediately.
- Natural stimulants in chocolate can cause a range of symptoms like vomiting, diarrhea and abnormal heart rhythm.
- Raisins may cause a toxic reaction in dogs from vomiting to kidney failure.
- Cellophane, plastic and paper from candy wrappers and lollipop sticks can cause gastrointestinal upset.
- As an alternative to sharing dangerous snacks, stock up on some seasonal dog-friendly treats and set out a pet-specific bowl.

SEASONAL DECORATIONS CAN ALSO POSE A THREAT:

- Fall decorations like jack-o'-lanterns can cause gastrointestinal upset.
- Glow sticks can cause irritation, agitation and vomiting.
- Hot wax and flames from candles can potentially burn your pet's nose, tongue or tail.

DON'T FORGET THE FUN

Despite some concerns, Halloween can still provide fun moments for your pet:

- Take your dog along for trick-or-treating.
- Allow your four-legged friend to greet trick-or-treaters at the door.
- Encourage friends to dress up their pets and join the festivities.

Zombie Funerals

by Robert L. Martin

Dead zombies laying out
On a big cold bed,
Laughing inside so not really dead,
Piled up high as high can go,
Put on a really spectacular show.

Vampires dancing and biting necks,
Refreshment time for some tasty snacks,
Werewolves howling at the big bad moon,
As the dead rise up from their smelly room.

The joint's really jumping as the music plays,
Gett'n down and funky, 'tis the zombie craze.

Fun, fun, fun, until the daylight blooms,
When vampires go home
To their musty old tombs,
The party's over, but not for zombies.
They can go on and on and on and on.

Nick Pulsinelli

Mt Bethel Music Festival

By Nick Pulsinelli

Sunday October 14th Mount Bethel Township held it's first music festival at the Chelsea Sun Inn in Stone Church. The festival featured a variety of musicians from across the tri-state area with an eclectic styles of music. In addition to the main acts, in between each headliner local musicians entertained the crowd with acoustic music while the other bands were setting up.

This coupled with the vendors who treated the guests to a wide selection of gourmet food and wines, the Chelsea Sun Inn added to the natural beauty of the community and foliage.

The Opening Acts

Curious Dog

Curious Dog is a duo that has been entertaining people at local bars, wineries and events for the past 3 1/2 year with their energetic song choices and wide selection of hits and B-sides spanning the past 30 years. Claire Lochner and Bobby Ventura bring everyone's favorite rock songs to life with their own twist. With the power of their voices providing solid rhythms and leads while their voices soar effortlessly over the melodies, Curious Dog filled the entire area with upbeat hits from legends such as Tom Petty to Bruce Springsteen and from Adele to Alice in Chains. Wherever they play, it's certainly to be a fun filled night with some great music. Curious Dog will be playing October 19th at Siamsa Irish Pub in Stroudsburg, the Rausch Haus in Palmerton, and Christkindlmarkt on November 23rd from 5:30pm to 7:30pm. Keep updated with events at www.curiousdog.net

Contraband: A Scott Weiland Tribute

When Stasis members Sean Michael and Chris Penyak started looking for musicians interested in doing covers from the course of Scott Weiland's career, it was a craigslist ad that brought them to Bill Clifton. Bill's vocals and stage presence resembled Scott so much that during the Stone Temple Pilot's search for a new vocalist, he was one of the semi-finalists who did not make the cut but in turn, opened a new opportunity with Contraband. With the last piece of the puzzle being Joe Stone on lead guitar, the quintet brings all of STPs, Velvet Revolver and Weiland's solo projects to life with the high energy vibes and stage presence that pleases even the harshest of critics. For any fans of Stone Temple Pilots or Velvet Revolver missed out on seeing them, they will be playing on November 30th at Crossroads in Garland New Jersey. For updates on shows and locations, follow them on Facebook or visit their website at www.seecontrabandlive.com

Johnny and the Bootlegs

This self described "blues/punk rock band" hails from New York City and brought all the diversity they could with them. With John Santiago on lead vocals and guitar, Erik Newburger on bass, Brad Geyer on percussion and recent addition to the group "Raven" Seaton Hancock on sax, they bring all the punk rock sounds and blues riffs together seamlessly. From song to song, they entranced those listening with the most delicate of blues influences with solid jams to the upbeat world of punk rock. In the past 3 years since their incarnation, Johnny and the Bootlegs may have some line up changes but they never lost sight of what sounds they were trying to tie together. With each passing song, their diverse influences danced from the most beautiful of blues ballads to the most aggressive punk styles mirroring that of the Ramones and the Clash. Their next shows are at Arlene's Grocery on Friday October 26th and Rockwood Music Hall on Thursday November 29th.

Bad Influence

Bad Influence is no stranger to the music scene and for those who enjoy the widest selection of rock and hard rock hits from the past 40 years, this is one group you certainly wouldn't want to miss the chance at seeing. Founded in 1990, brothers Jim and Don, drummer Tom Knight, lead guitarist AJ Larsen, and vocalists Helen Ludwig and Randall Millheim round out the full array of technical playing and vocal ranges required to bring hits from the GoGos to Avenged Sevenfold to life. The high octane ride they take you covers the span of modern rock and metal music alike with unwavering energy and charisma coming from everyone. They'll be playing at Pocono Pub on November 17th and East Penn Sporting Club on December 31st. Follow them on Facebook at Badinfluencerocks for additional updates.

Bad Company Experience

One of the most iconic bands in the past 45 years, Bad Company, stood the test of time and maintained their supergroup status for majority of their career. The Bad Company Experience brings all of the energy and sounds together in an accurate, and highly entertaining, portrayal of the legends themselves. From the first note to the last, members of the audience were struck by the uncanny vocals that matched legendary vocalist Paul Rodgers. With perfect renditions of their classic hits, anyone who appreciates Bad Company would certainly love this group. They'll be playing again locally in New Jersey on November 11th in Asbury at the Pattenburg House and December 2nd at Rock Creek Tavern in Philipsburg. www.badcompanyexperience.com

The Dimension 3

Anyone who is a fan of "Prog Rock" or progressive rock is in for a wonderful treat. Dimension 3 brings all the elements of traditional psychedelic rock, progressive rock and experimental rock together with the utmost precision. With core influences from King Crimson, Yes, Frank Zappa and Porcupine Tree into a wonderful trip throughout the history of all that is rock. The trio rocks between Jay Nenscel, Rich Trapt and Ryan Baer. Despite only playing together for less than a year, the trio captivates audiences with the technical knowledge of music and the effortless look of shredding through the most complex of riffs. With an arsenal of British and American Prog rock covers from the 1970s up, those who wish to relive the excitement of hearing some of the greats, Dimension 3 will not fall short of expectations. For their latest updates and releases, follow them on Facebook at Dimension3band
